

An Act relating to damages; exempting businesses from liability for losses caused by failure or malfunction of computer software or computer devices in certain circumstances; providing scope of law; providing exception; defining term; providing for codification; and declaring an emergency.