

An Act relating to crimes and punishments; prohibiting use of identifying information belonging to another person under certain circumstances; providing for codification; and providing an effective date.