

An Act relating to consumer protection; creating the Consumer Internet Privacy Protection Act; defining terms; prohibiting an interactive computer service from disclosing certain personally identifiable information without written consent; allowing revocation of written consent; prohibiting the disclosure of falsified personally identifiable information; requiring a computer service to provide a subscriber access to personally identifiable information; allowing access to the identity of recipients of information; prohibiting certain fees; authorizing the Attorney General to investigate certain acts or practices; making the violation of the act a violation of the Consumer Protection Act; authorizing the Attorney General to bring action under the Consumer Protection Act; providing for civil actions; providing for codification; providing an effective date; and declaring an emergency.