

An Act relating to labor; requiring each union in the state to keep certain records; requiring such records to be open to certain persons; requiring certain registration prior to solicitation of members; requiring certain information be provided; providing penalties; providing for codification; and providing an effective date.