

An Act relating to oil and gas; amending 52 O.S. 1991, Section 310, which relates to plugging leaking abandoned oil and gas wells; updating statutory language; providing for the evaluation of the status of certain persons to plug, replug, or repair certain wells; allowing the Commission to order the replugging or repair of certain wells threatened by construction; establishing responsibility for the replugging or repair; establishing responsibility when certain information is not obtained; establishing the responsibility of certain persons who disturb the integrity of a well with construction; defining certain term; providing an effective date; and declaring an emergency.