

An Act relating to motor vehicles; requiring passengers in vehicles involved in accidents to render aid or give information under certain circumstances; providing for punishment; providing for codification; and providing an effective date.