Section 141.2 A. This act shall not apply to the following boilers, hot water heaters and pressure vessels:

- 1. Pressure vessels used for the transportation of compressed gases if constructed and operated in compliance with specifications and regulations of the United States Department of Transportation or of the Corporation Commission of Oklahoma and any unfired pressure vessels used as containers for liquefied petroleum gases and subject to the jurisdiction of the United States Department of Transportation or the Oklahoma Liquefied Petroleum Gas Administration or successor agencies;

- 1 2. Pressure vessels containing air located on vehicles
2 operating pursuant to regulations of other jurisdiction authorities;
- 3 3. Pressure vessels having an internal or external operating 4 pressure not exceeding fifteen (15) pounds per square inch gauge -
5 one hundred three (103) kilopascals gauge with no limit on size;
- 6 4. Pressure vessels having an inside diameter not exceeding six 7 (6) inches (152mm) with no limitation on pressure;
- 8 5. Pressure vessels with a nominal water containing capacity of 9 one hundred twenty (120) gallons or four hundred fifty (450) liters 10 or less, to be used for domestic supply purposes, for containing 11 water under pressure including those containing air, the compression 12 of which serves only as a cushion;
- 13 6. Pressure vessels containing water heated by steam or other 14 indirect means when none of the following limitations is exceeded:
- 15 a. a heat input of two hundred thousand (200,000)
16 British thermal units per hour - fifty-eight thousand
17 six hundred (58,600) watts,
- 18 b. a water temperature of two hundred ten degrees
19 Fahrenheit (210o F), or
- 20 c. a water containing capacity of one hundred twenty 21 (120) gallons - four hundred fifty (450) liters;
- 22 7. Pressure vessels which may be classified as pressure 23 containers which are integral parts of components of rotating or

1 reciprocating mechanical devices such as pumps, compressors,
2 turbines, generators, engines and hydraulic or pneumatic cylinders
3 where the primary design considerations and/or stresses are derived 4 from the functional requirements of the device, or structures whose 5 primary function is the transport of fluids from one location to 6 another within a system of which it is an integral part, i.e., 7 piping systems;

8 8. Hot water supply boilers which are directly fired with oil, 9 gas or electricity when none of the following limitations are 10 exceeded:

- 11 a. a heat input of two hundred thousand (200,000)
12 British thermal units per hour - fifty-eight thousand
13 six hundred (58,600) watts,
- 14 b. a water temperature of two hundred ten degrees
15 Fahrenheit (210o F), or
- 16 c. a water containing capacity of one hundred twenty 17 (120) gallons - four hundred fifty (450) liters;

18 9. Boilers and pressure vessels under federal control and 19 railroad locomotive boilers;

20 10. Pressure vessels located on remote sites and limited to 21 oil, and natural gas gathering facilities or processing plants ~~or~~ 22 ~~gas producing lease locations~~ that have fewer than ten buildings 23 intended for human occupancy per one-fourth (1/4) square mile and

1 where the closest building is at least two hundred twenty (220)
2 yards from any vessel;

3 11. Pressure vessels in the care, custody and control of 4 research facilities and used solely for research purposes which 5 require one or more details of noncode construction or which involve 6 destruction or reduced life expectancy of those vessels; and

7 12. Hot water supply heaters as defined in subparagraph f of 8 paragraph 1 of Section ~~4~~ 141.1 of this ~~act~~ title, with piping 9 connections to the potable water supply system which are intended to 10 supply hot water for domestic or commercial purposes other than

18 title:

19 1. Pressure vessels not exceeding fifteen (15) cubic feet in 20 volume and two hundred fifty (250) pounds per square inch gauge
21 pressure;

22 2. Low pressure steam boilers, hot water heating boilers, hot
23 water supply boilers, hot water supply heaters or pressure vessels

1 which are located in private residences or in apartment houses of 2 less than six-family units; and

3 3. Pressure vessels operated entirely full of water or other
4 liquid which is not materially more hazardous than water, provided
