

An Act relating to the Department of Labor; requiring certain funds to be budgeted in certain categories and amounts; providing for duties and compensation of employees; providing budgetary limitations; making certain positions contingent on federal funds; providing an effective date; and declaring an emergency.