

An Act relating to civil procedure; authorizing the court to decline jurisdiction under certain doctrine; providing factors that the court may consider; providing for codification; and providing an effective date.