

An Act relating to public health; prohibiting use of certain facilities under certain circumstances; directing promulgation of rules; providing for codification; and providing an effective date.