Fiscal Analysis

CS for ESB 138 relates to state higher education institutions and provides criteria for in-state status for military personnel and their dependent children and spouses. Eligibility requirements are also modified. And, Section 3242.3 of Title 70 which provides policy for resident tuition eligibility is repealed.

State Regents' for Higher Education staff provide that this language is consistent with United States Department of Education and United States Department of Veterans Affairs regulations. There is no fiscal impact to the state, and the fiscal impact to the state colleges and universities is expected to be negligible.
