Fiscal Analysis

According to the Department of Public Safety (DPS), there were 218 companies that purchased 5,727 permits in 2012 for the movement of portable buildings at a cost of $40 each. These permits generated approximately $229,000 for DPS. The annual permit would only benefit companies that purchase more than 13 permits annually. Even if all 218 companies purchase the annual permit for $500, it would generate only $109,000, resulting in a minimum annual revenue loss of $120,000 to DPS.
