Research Analysis

The measure modifies the process by which counties governments are audited. The measure requires the State Auditor and Inspector to submit to data.ok.gov all raw data sets collected during an audit and to redact any portions that are exempted by the Oklahoma Open Records Act.

Fiscal Analysis

Currently, SAI receives data in multiple formats, and has auditors that subsequently format that information in various ways; without revisiting each data set to provide consistency, errors in interpretation could occur. Further, the measure's requirement to redact sensitive material would require additional staff hours to review relevant information prior to submission for public viewing. As a result, the office of the State Auditor and Inspector (SAI) anticipates the need for an additional $250,000 to $300,000 to fund two to three full-time staff (FTE) and other miscellaneous administrative resources associated with data formatting, verification, compilation, and submission.
