Research Analysis

HB3594, as introduced, authorizes the Office of Management and Enterprise Services (OMES) to levy monetary penalties against a state agency that is not in compliance with the reporting of income and disbursements to OMES. The measure provides a 15 grace period for agencies to resolve a delinquency after receiving notice from OMES about noncompliance. If the delinquency is not resolved within the 15 day grace period, OMES may assess and collect a penalty of up to $300 per day.

Fiscal Analysis

HB 3594 in its current form provides monetary penalties against agencies not complying with existing financial reporting requirements. The monetary penalty is equal to $300/day beginning after a 15 day grace period. The measure is an attempt to force agency compliance with existing reporting requirements. The amount of monetary penalties assessed will be dependent upon the number of violations identified. If the measure is effective in generating compliance than little to no penalties will be assessed.

HB 3594 in its current form is budget neutral to the State, because any monetary penalty assessed against a state agency will be withheld from the agency by the Office of Management and Enterprise Services (OMES) another state agency. Such funds would remain in the State Treasury.
