Fiscal Analysis

SB 224 has no revenue or fiscal considerations for the state. The measure does require counsel to be present and representing the youthful offender at every hearing or review until the completion or dismissal of the case. This does affect counsel provided by the Oklahoma Indigent System but it does not affect the rate of payment. The measure also changes salary maximums for county juvenile bureau employees. These employees are paid by the counties and therefore there is no fiscal impact to the state.
