Research Analysis

HB 1158 allows cases relating to physical or deadly force against an intruder to be appealed to the Court of Criminal Appeals upon a pretrial order, decision or judgment granting immunity from criminal prosecution or civil action. The measure allows the State to appeal an adverse ruling or order of a magistrate which grants immunity from criminal prosecution or civil action pursuant to the use of physical or deadly force against an intruder.

Fiscal Analysis

HB 1158, which adds a type of case to those that can be reviewed by the Court of Criminal Appeals, has no fiscal implications for the state. The Court of Criminal Appeals can absorb any increase in workload this measure presents.
