Research Analysis

The committee substitute for HB 3255 changes the waiver amounts that high school students concurrently enrolled in college courses are entitled to receive.

Instead of receiving a tuition waiver for the amount of resident tuition, a high school student would receive the lesser of:

- The actual amount of resident tuition for the credit hours enrolled, or
- The average amount of resident tuition of all the community junior colleges in the state

Fiscal Analysis

Upon review of the measure, it is not anticipated that it will result in a negative fiscal impact on state appropriations or budget. It may result in a negative impact for institutions whose tuition costs are above the threshold set forth in the measure.
