Bill Analysis

SB 1888 directs the Department of Transportation to promulgate rules making its construction contracting process paperless. The measure requires the Department to make all construction contracts available in digital form and to be able to accept digital signatures. Digital inspections must also be readily available. A digital inspection must provide a real-time project feed with searchable, annotated photos and videos, sharing of field-collected project information with multiple stakeholder groups, and a modular implementation approach. Digital inspections must provide data first over forms and be designed to securely exchange data.
