Research Analysis

HB2214, as introduced, authorizes the Oklahoma Wildlife Conservation Commission to issue various permits and establish the corresponding fees for:

- Hunting and fishing. A person is required to have the permit in their possession when hunting or fishing.
- Selling, breeding, and raising wildlife or fish for commercial purposes. Violations result in a fine of at least $1,000, or up to 6 months in jail, or a combination.
- Breeding or raising wildlife for personal consumption, or capturing or killing wildlife for scientific purposes. Violations result in a fine between $50-$500.
- Dog training shoot to kill

The Wildlife Commission is authorized to promulgate rules necessary to implement these licenses and fees. The Commission is required to offer a year-round hunting and fishing license.

The measure eliminates exemptions for residents and nonresidents, and also removes provisions relating to nonresident hunting licenses.

The measure also removes the requirement that certain portions of fees be deposited in certain funds.

Lastly, these sections of law are repealed:

Fiscal Analysis

According to officials at the Department of Wildlife Conservation, HB 2214 in its current form would not create much of a fiscal or revenue impact. Based off of 2020 numbers, the Department expects an increase of $2,650, which is shared with the county sheriffs. Therefore, given the minimal revenue increase, the State's budget and appropriations should not be affected.
