Research Analysis

The Senate amendment to HB 2293 strikes the title, enacting clause and entire bill and replaces it with language that provides that participating employers in the Teachers' Retirement System are not required to pay the matching contribution for service performed by TRS members during a summer school program, if such service is part of a separate summer school contract. Summer school program is defined as a program offering academic enrichments from pre-K to 12th grade and excludes services performed in an extended school year or by teachers with a 12-month contract.
