Research Analysis

HB 3072 changes the way National Board Certified Teachers receive a bonus. The measure eliminates the part of the teacher salary schedule that specified a higher wage for teachers who had earned this certification, and instead reinstates the annual bonus, to be paid no later than January 31st of each year.

The measure increases the bonus amount a teacher with National Board Teacher Certification shall receive. The current bonus amount is set at $5,000, this measure increases that to $7,500. The bonus shall be paid annually over a 10 year period.

Fiscal Analysis

Currently there are 289 teachers who eligible for the $5,000 right now. Additionally, there are another 353 who are eligible for incremental pay increase. This brings the current total of eligible recipients to 642 for a total fiscal impact of $4,815,000. This cost is likely to fluctuate as current eligible recipients roll off of the eligibility list or as new recipients are added.
