Fiscal Analysis

After discussions with the Oklahoma Center for the Advancement of Science and Technology along with the Author, the program would need about one million dollars ($1,000,000.00) to be adequately funded.

The floor amendment changes some language including adding permissive language "Contingent upon the availability of funds." While this allows the program to not operate without funds, the Author still believes about $1 million will be needed for the program to be operational.
