Bill Analysis

SB 156 authorizes the court to require a person convicted of a sexually violent offense, as defined in the measure, to undergo medroxyprogesterone acetate treatment as part of any conditions of release after a first conviction. After a second conviction, the court must require the offender to undergo medroxyprogesterone acetate treatment prior to their release unless the court determines the treatment would not be successful or the offender underwent an alternative treatment plan. Other approved products may be utilized in lieu of medroxyprogesterone acetate.
