Bill Analysis

SB 1786 requires the court hearing a civil case to schedule a conference it deems appropriate and enter a scheduling order which establishes the time to join other parties and to amend the pleadings, file and hear motions, complete discovery, have a medical examination, hold conference before trial, file proposed filings, and to accomplish any other matters appropriate in the circumstances of the case. The scheduling order shall be issued as soon as feasible after the case is at issue and shall not be modified unless a written application is filed by counsel and the judge grants leave for the modification.
