Bill Analysis

SB 1886 provides that an abortion made in an attempt to preserve the life of the mother shall only be made in the last resort. Additionally, the measure requires such an abortion to be conducted using surgery. The measure states that an abortion shall not be deemed necessary to preserve the life of the pregnant woman if it is based on a psychological or emotional condition or a claim, diagnosis, or determination that the woman may engage in conduct which she intends to result in her death.
