Research Analysis

The proposed committee substitute to House Bill 2717 alters the income requirement standards for the Family Support Program for children with severe developmental disabilities so that the family's gross adjusted income for the year before applying for assistance must not exceed 75% of the amount allowed by Personal Responsibility and Work Opportunity Reconciliation Act of 1996 (Public Law 104–193). The measure outlines the payment amounts based on income levels and the number of eligible children. The measure also grants parents or legal guardians whose income is at or below the amount established in Public Law No. 104-193 the ability to waive the flat monthly payment of $400.

Fiscal Analysis

HB 2717 provides certain income criteria and maximum family support payment conditions for use by the Oklahoma Department of Human Services (OKDHS) in maintaining a Family Support Program for children with severe developmental disabilities who reside in their family homes.

The Proposed Committee Substitute (PCS) for HB2717 modifies the gross adjusted income for qualifying families to no more than 75% of the amount permitted by the Personal Responsibility and Work Opportunity Reconciliation Act (i.e., Public Law No. 104-193). Further, the PCS alters the value of family support assistance payments to a tiered structure based on family status at certain poverty levels, and the number of eligible children per family, up to six (6) children total. Specifically, the eight (8) following poverty level thresholds are used:

- families at or below one hundred percent (100%) of the federal poverty level;
- between one hundred one percent (101%) and one hundred twenty-five percent (125%);
- between one hundred twenty-six percent (126%) and one hundred fifty percent (150%);
- between one hundred fifty-one percent (151%) and one hundred seventy-five percent (175%);
- between one hundred seventy-six percent (176%) and two hundred percent (200%);
- between two hundred one percent (201%) and two hundred twenty-five percent (225%);
- between two hundred twenty-six percent (226%) and two hundred fifty percent (250%);
- and
- between two hundred fifty-one percent (251%) and two hundred seventy-five percent (275%) of the federal poverty level.

Total Difference $ 7,029,594

Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) is a federal block grant program by which there is a certain level of match or cost sharing between the federal award and state share. Based on this analysis, and accounting for the difference between the federal award and state match, the total expected cost to OKDHS is approximately $7,029,594.00 in state appropriations. OKDHS has provided these projections for analysis, and OKDHS further anticipates that it will take two to three years to require the full $7,029,594.00 as additional families come off the DDS waitlist.
