Bill Analysis

SB 250 prohibits any provider from receiving reimbursement through Medicaid or any other federal or state program or any other funding from any political subdivision from performing gender transition procedures. Providers found to be ineligible for reimbursement through such programs may reapply for reimbursement after a 5-year period and a showing that they and their affiliates no longer participate in gender transition procedures. The measure directs the Health Care Authority to investigate complaints for violations of the provisions in this measure and to publish its findings with 60 days of the receipt of the complaint.
