9 requested in a business dispute, a business court may hear an 10 action:

11 parties;

12      5. Environmental or toxic tort claims involving many parties;

13      6. Product liability claims;

14      7. Mass tort claims;

15      8. Class actions;

16      9. Ownership or control of business claims; or 17      10. Insurance coverage claims.

18      E. Except as provided by subsection D of this section, the 19 business court shall have supplemental jurisdiction over any other 20 claim related to a case or controversy within the court's 21 jurisdiction that forms part of the same case or controversy. If a 22 party objects to the business court's supplemental jurisdiction over 23 other claims, the business court judge may remand those claims to 24 the district court.

1       SECTION 7.       NEW LAW       A new section of law to be codified

2 in the Oklahoma Statutes as Section 91.7d of Title 20, unless there

6       1. An action within the jurisdiction of the business court may 7 be filed in the business court. The filing party shall plead facts 8 sufficient to establish venue in a county in a division of the 9 business court. Venue may be established as provided by law or, if 10 a written contract specifies a county as venue for the action, as 11 provided by the contract;

12       2. If the business court determines it does not have 13 jurisdiction over the action, the business court shall:

14           a. transfer the action to a district court in a county 15           with jurisdiction over the action, or

16           b. dismiss the action without prejudice to the rights of 17           the parties; and

18       3. If the business court determines that the venue is improper 19 as to the action, the business court shall transfer the action to 20 the court of proper venue.

21       B. 1. A district court in this state may transfer an action to 22 the business court division of proper venue if the district court
23 judge determines the business court has subject matter jurisdiction
24 over the action.

1        2. A party to an action filed in a district court that is 2 within the jurisdiction of the business court may remove the action
3 to the business court. If the business court does not have 4 jurisdiction of the action, the business court shall remand the 5 action to the court in which the action was originally filed.

6        C. A party to an action filed in a district court of proper
7 venue that is not within an operating division of the business 8 court, or the judge of the court in which the action is filed, shall 9 not remove or transfer the action to the business court.

10       D. A party may file an agreed notice of removal to the business 11 court at any time during the pendency of the action. If all parties 12 to the action have not agreed to remove the action, the notice of 13 removal shall be filed:

14       1. Not later than thirty (30) days after the date the party 15 requesting removal of the action discovered, or reasonably should 16 have discovered, facts establishing the business court's 17 jurisdiction over the action; or

18       2. If an application for temporary injunction is pending on the 19 date the party requesting removal of the action discovered, or 20 reasonably should have discovered, facts establishing the business
21 court's jurisdiction over the action, not later than thirty (30) 22 days after the date the application is granted, denied, or denied as 23 a matter of law.
24

1 E. The notice of removal shall be filed with the business court
2 and the district court in which the action was originally filed. On 3 receipt of the notice, the clerk of the court in which the action 4 was originally filed shall immediately transfer the action to the 5 business court in accordance with the Oklahoma Pleading Code, 6 Section 2001 et seq. of Title 12 of the Oklahoma Statutes, and the 7 court clerk shall assign the action to the appropriate division of 8 the business court.

9 F. Unless otherwise provided in this section, all pleadings
10 shall be governed by the Oklahoma Pleading Code.

11 SECTION 8. NEW LAW A new section of law to be codified
12 in the Oklahoma Statutes as Section 91.7e of Title 20, unless there 13 is created a duplication in numbering, reads as follows:

14 Non-jury trials in a business court shall be resolved within 15 twelve (12) months of the filing of the action. The twelve-month
16 disposition schedule may be extended if both parties agree to a 17 longer resolution period. Such an extension shall be agreed upon in 18 writing by all parties and approved by the court.

19 SECTION 9. This act shall become effective July 1, 2026.
