Bill Analysis

SB 1668 requires school districts beginning with the 2026-2027 school year to provide students in grades five through twelve age-appropriate and research-based instruction in human growth and development. It allows the instruction to be included in a stand-alone health education course or integrated into one or more existing courses of study. It requires the instruction to include instruction related to human development inside the womb, a high-definition ultrasound video; and a high-quality, computer-generated rendering or animation or ultrasound or other real image. It prohibits certain entities from providing any books, articles, outlines, handouts, videos, or other materials for the instruction.
